- (7) Before 31 October in each registration year, a marriage celebrant must give to the Registrar an annual return in accordance with Form 12C relating to the professional development activities undertaken by the marriage celebrant in the previous registration year.

Subdivision 2 Complaints resolution procedures

37Q Application of Subdivision 2

For paragraph 39K (c) of the Act, this Subdivision sets out procedures for making and resolving complaints about the solemnization of marriages by marriage celebrants.

Note Under subsection 5 (1) of the Act, marriage celebrant means a person registered under Subdivision C of Division 1 of Part IV of the Act.

37R Who may make a complaint

- (1) A complaint about the solemnization of a marriage by a marriage celebrant may be made:
 - (a) by a party to the marriage or the intended marriage; or
 - (b) by a member of the public; or
 - (c) by the appropriate registering authority of the State or Territory in which the marriage was solemnized, or was intended to be solemnized; or
 - (d) by a person on behalf of a department or agency of the Commonwealth, or of a State or Territory.
- (2) For subregulation (1), the appropriate registering authority of a State or Territory is the registering authority mentioned in column 3 of the item in Schedule 2 relating to that State or Territory.

37S How to make a complaint

- (1) A complaint must:
 - (a) be made, in writing, to the Registrar of Marriage Celebrants; and
 - (b) be made within 3 months after the matter complained of took place, or a longer period that the Registrar considers is justified in the circumstances.

- (2) A complaint must state:
 - (a) the complainant's full name and contact details; and
 - (b) the name of the marriage celebrant to whom the complaint relates; and
 - (c) the full details of the complaint, including the date and place of the marriage (or, if known, the date and place of the intended marriage) and the nature of the complaint; and
 - (d) whether the matter being complained of:
 - (i) has been, or is, the subject of a legal proceeding; or
 - (ii) has been, or is being, dealt with by another complaints mechanism.
- (3) If a person wishing to make a complaint needs assistance in preparing a complaint in accordance with this regulation, the Registrar may provide that assistance.

37T Preliminary assessment of complaint

- (1) If the Registrar of Marriage Celebrants receives a complaint, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable after receiving the complaint, make a preliminary assessment of the complaint to determine:
 - (a) whether the complaint should be dealt with; and
 - (b) whether, having regard to the nature of the complaint, it would be more appropriate for another agency to deal with the complaint or part of the complaint.
- (2) For paragraph (1) (a), the Registrar may decide that a complaint should not be dealt with only if:
 - (a) the complaint does not comply with the requirements of regulation 37S; or
 - (b) the complaint does not relate to the performance of a marriage celebrant in relation to the solemnization of a marriage; or
 - (c) the complaint is frivolous, vexatious or not made in good faith; or
 - (d) the substance of the complaint has been the subject of a previous complaint; or

- (e) the matter being complained of:
 - (i) has been, or is, the subject of a legal proceeding; or
 - (ii) has been, or is being, dealt with by another complaints mechanism.
- (3) As soon as practicable after making a preliminary assessment of the complaint, the Registrar must give to the complainant a written notice:
 - (a) stating the outcome of the preliminary assessment; and
 - (b) if the Registrar decides that the complaint should be dealt with but considers that it would be more appropriate for the complaint, or part of the complaint, to be dealt with by another agency — stating that, if the complainant wishes the Registrar to deal with the complaint or any part of the complaint, the complainant must, within 21 days after the date of the notice, give to the Registrar a written statement to this effect.
- (4) If the Registrar does not receive a statement from the complainant under paragraph (3) (b) in relation to the complaint or a part of the complaint, the Registrar must not deal with the complaint or that part of the complaint.

37U Procedure if Registrar is to deal with a complaint

- (1) If the Registrar of Marriage Celebrants decides under paragraph 37T (1) (a) that a complaint should be dealt with and, if applicable, the complainant has given to the Registrar a statement under paragraph 37T (3) (b), the Registrar must, as soon as practicable, give to the complainant a written notice stating that:
 - (a) the complainant may, within 21 days after the date of the notice, or a longer period agreed to by the Registrar within those 21 days, give to the Registrar additional material, in writing, in support of the complaint (including signed statements by any witnesses); and
 - (b) in dealing with the complaint, the Registrar may, at any time, ask the complainant to give to the Registrar further information in relation to the complaint; and

- (c) a copy of the complaint and any supporting material given by the complainant (excluding any information disclosing the contact details of the complainant or any supporting witness) will be given to the marriage celebrant for his or her response; and
 - (d) the complainant must, within 21 days after the date of the notice, or a longer period agreed to by the Registrar within those 21 days, give to the Registrar a written statement consenting to the marriage celebrant to whom the complaint relates being notified of the complaint and being given the documents mentioned in paragraph (c); and
 - (e) the Registrar cannot deal with the complaint if the complainant does not give the statement of consent within the time mentioned in paragraph (d).
- (2) If the Registrar considers that any additional material given to the Registrar in support of a complaint discloses a new complaint in relation to the performance of the marriage celebrant in relation to the marriage, or intended marriage, that is the subject of the original complaint, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable, notify the complainant, in writing, that:
- (a) the marriage celebrant is not required to respond to the new complaint; and
 - (b) if the complainant wishes to pursue the new complaint, he or she must make a separate complaint; and
 - (c) if the complainant makes a separate complaint, the Registrar may deal with both the original and the new complaint together.
- (3) If the Registrar does not receive a statement of consent from the complainant under paragraph (1) (d), the Registrar must not deal with the complaint.
- (4) If the Registrar receives a statement of consent from the complainant under paragraph (1) (d), the Registrar must, as soon as practicable after receiving the statement, give to the marriage celebrant:
- (a) a written notice stating that:
 - (i) the complaint has been made; and

- (ii) the marriage celebrant may, within 21 days after the date of the notice, or a longer period agreed to by the Registrar within those 21 days, give to the Registrar a written response to the complaint and any additional material, in writing, in support of the response (including signed statements by any witnesses); and
 - (iii) a copy of any response and supporting material given by the marriage celebrant (excluding any information disclosing the contact details of any supporting witness) will be given to the complainant; and
 - (iv) if the marriage celebrant does not give a written response within the time mentioned in subparagraph (ii), the Registrar may deal with the complaint without further notice to the marriage celebrant; and
 - (b) a copy of the complaint and any supporting material given by the complainant (excluding any information disclosing the contact details of the complainant or any supporting witness).
- (5) As soon as practicable after receiving a response from the marriage celebrant or, if no response is received, as soon as practicable after the period in which a response could be given, the Registrar must:
- (a) consider any material given by the complainant and the marriage celebrant; and
 - (b) decide whether to resolve the complaint by conciliation (under regulation 37V) or by determination (under regulation 37W).
- (6) The Registrar must decide to resolve the complaint by determination if the Registrar considers that:
- (a) the nature of the complaint makes it inappropriate to resolve the complaint by conciliation; or
 - (b) the complaint is unlikely to be resolved by conciliation.

37V Resolution by conciliation

- (1) This regulation sets out the procedures for resolving a complaint by conciliation.
- (2) The Registrar of Marriage Celebrants must attempt to resolve the complaint in a way that is most agreeable to the complainant and the marriage celebrant, including (but not limited to) the following:
 - (a) the marriage celebrant giving an apology;
 - (b) the marriage celebrant giving an undertaking in relation to his or her future conduct;
 - (c) the complainant withdrawing the complaint.
- (3) If the complaint is resolved by conciliation, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable, give to the complainant and the marriage celebrant a written summary of the resolution of the complaint.
- (4) The resolution of a complaint by conciliation is taken not to be consideration of the complaint for the purposes of paragraph 39I (1) (d) of the Act.

Note Section 39I of the Act permits the Registrar to take specified disciplinary measures against a marriage celebrant in certain circumstances. The effect of subregulation (4) is that the Registrar may not take a disciplinary measure against the marriage celebrant on the basis of having resolved a complaint about a marriage celebrant by conciliation under this regulation. However, the record of the resolution of the complaint by conciliation will be kept on the marriage celebrant's file for other purposes under the Act (see, for example, section 39H of the Act relating to performance review).

- (5) If, after attempting to resolve the complaint under subregulation (2), the Registrar decides that the complaint is unlikely to be resolved by conciliation, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable after making the decision:
 - (a) notify the complainant and the marriage celebrant, in writing, that the complaint is to be resolved by determination under regulation 37W; and
 - (b) resolve the complaint by determination under that regulation.

37W Resolution by determination

- (1) This regulation sets out the procedures for resolving a complaint by determination.
- (2) As soon as practicable after deciding to resolve a complaint by determination, the Registrar of Marriage Celebrants must determine whether the complaint is well-founded.
- (3) In determining whether a complaint is well-founded, the Registrar must take into account:
 - (a) the original complaint, and any additional material in support of the complaint, given by the complainant; and
 - (b) any response, and any additional material in support of the response, given by the marriage celebrant.

Note For notification of the determination, see regulation 37Y.

37X Procedure to be followed if complaint well-founded

- (1) If the Registrar of Marriage Celebrants determines that a complaint is well-founded, the Registrar must decide:
 - (a) whether it is appropriate to take a disciplinary measure against the marriage celebrant under section 39I of the Act; and
 - (b) whether it is appropriate to take any other action in relation to the complaint (such as a request or recommendation to the marriage celebrant to offer redress to the complainant).
- (2) In deciding whether it is appropriate to take a disciplinary measure against the marriage celebrant, or any other action in relation to the complaint, the Registrar may take into account any information held, in writing, by the Registrar in relation to the marriage celebrant that the Registrar considers is relevant.
- (3) For paragraph (1) (a), if it appears to the Registrar that it is appropriate to take a disciplinary measure against the marriage celebrant, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable, give to the marriage celebrant:

- (a) a written notice stating:
 - (i) the disciplinary measures that the Registrar may take against the marriage celebrant under subsection 39I (2) of the Act; and
 - (ii) the disciplinary measure that the Registrar proposes to take against the marriage celebrant, and the date (being a date that is at least 21 days after the date of the notice) when the proposed disciplinary measure is to come into effect; and
 - (iii) the marriage celebrant's right under subregulation (4) to make a submission, for consideration by the Registrar, about the appropriateness of the disciplinary measure proposed by the Registrar; and
 - (b) a copy of any information mentioned in subregulation (2).
- (4) The marriage celebrant may, within 21 days after the date of the notice given under paragraph (3) (a), or a longer period agreed to by the Registrar within those 21 days, make a written submission to the Registrar about the appropriateness of the disciplinary measure proposed by the Registrar.
- (5) As soon as practicable after receiving a submission from the marriage celebrant under subregulation (4), the Registrar must consider the submission and decide whether it is appropriate to take the proposed disciplinary measure or another disciplinary measure.

37Y Notice of determination

- (1) If the Registrar of Marriage Celebrants determines under regulation 37W that a complaint is not well-founded, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable after making the determination, give to the complainant and the marriage celebrant a written notice, signed and dated by the Registrar, stating the determination and the reasons for making it.
- (2) If the Registrar determines under regulation 37W that a complaint is well-founded, the Registrar must, as soon as practicable after making the decisions under paragraphs 37X (1) (a) and (b) in relation to the complaint, give to the complainant and the marriage celebrant a written notice, signed and dated by the Registrar, stating:

- (a) the determination and the reasons for making it; and
- (b) whether the Registrar has decided to take any disciplinary measure under paragraph 37X (1) (a) and, if so, what measure is to be taken; and
- (c) whether the Registrar has decided to take any action under paragraph 37X (1) (b) and, if so, what action is to be taken.

Note If the Registrar decides to take a disciplinary measure against the marriage celebrant:

- (a) the Registrar must also give to the marriage celebrant written notice, under paragraph 39I (4) (a) of the Act, of the decision, the reasons for it, the disciplinary measure that is to be taken, and the marriage celebrant's right, under section 39J of the Act, to apply for review of the decision; and
- (b) the Registrar may, under paragraph 39I (4) (b) of the Act, inform the community, in any way the Registrar thinks appropriate, including by electronic means, that the disciplinary measure is to be taken against the marriage celebrant.

37Z Records (Act s 39K)

- Section 42 of the Marriage Act 1961 requires that a marriage shall not be solemnized unless a notice in writing of the intended marriage, in the prescribed form, is given to the authorized celebrant solemnizing the marriage. This Notice is the prescribed form for this purpose.
- The authorized celebrant to whom the Notice is given sends the Notice to the Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages of the State or Territory in which the marriage takes place, after the marriage ceremony. The Registrar uses the information to register the marriage.
- The Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages then sends the Notice to the Australian Bureau of Statistics, which requests information about these matters under the Census and Statistics Act 1905. NOTES

MARRIAGE OF ANY PERSON UNDER 18 YEARS WITHOUT AN ORDER OF A JUDGE OR MAGISTRATE IS INVALID

UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES CAN 2 PERSONS UNDER 18 YEARS MARRY EACH OTHER

1. If party to an intended marriage is unable, after reasonable inquiry, to state any information required in this Notice, he or she should write ‘unknown’ in the relevant space on the form. To make the Notice effective, he or she must also give the authorized celebrant a statutory declaration stating that he or she is unable to state the information required in the Notice, and the reason for that inability. However, a statutory declaration is not necessary in relation to the information required under item 9, 10, 11 or 12, or the date of a previous marriage ceremony under item 14.

2. The marriage cannot be solemnized until after 1 calendar month from the date the authorized celebrant receives this Notice unless, under subsection 42 (5) of the Marriage Act 1961, a prescribed authority has authorized the marriage to be solemnized before that time has elapsed. Also, the marriage cannot be solemnized if the authorized celebrant received the Notice more than 18 months before the proposed marriage.
 3. Section 104 of the Marriage Act 1961 makes it an offence for a person to give this Notice to an authorized celebrant or to sign it if, to that person's knowledge, the Notice contains a false statement or an error or is defective.
 4. If a party to an intended marriage cannot conveniently sign this Notice at the time it is intended to give notice of the intended marriage, the other party may sign the Notice and give it to the proposed authorized celebrant. However, in this case, the party who has not signed the notice must sign it in the presence of that celebrant or another authorized celebrant before the marriage is solemnized.
 5. Section 42 of the Marriage Act 1961 requires certain documents to be produced to the authorized celebrant before the marriage is solemnized, in particular:
 - (a) evidence of the date and place of birth of each party; and
 - (b) if a party is a divorced person or a widow or widower — evidence of that party's divorce, or of the death of that party's spouse.

If a party has been divorced in Australia, the authorised celebrant should sight court evidence of the decree upon dissolution of marriage.

6. If a party to an intended marriage has not turned 18 (unless he or she has previously been married), he or she must obtain the necessary consents or dispensations required under the Marriage Act 1961, and the authorized celebrant must sight those consents or dispensations before proceeding with the marriage. Also, a person under 18 years is not of marriageable age, and cannot be a party to a marriage, unless he or she obtains an order from the court under section 12 of the Act.

Form 14A Document outlining the obligations and consequences of marriage and stating the availability of marriage education and counselling

(regulation 39A)

COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA

Marriage Act 1961

DOCUMENT OUTLINING THE OBLIGATIONS AND CONSEQUENCES OF MARRIAGE AND STATING THE AVAILABILITY OF MARRIAGE EDUCATION AND COUNSELLING

This pamphlet is important.

This pamphlet tells you:

- something of what it means to be married
- the laws you need to know about when you marry

- where to go for marriage education, marriage counselling or family dispute resolution.

At this time you are probably giving a lot of thought to your approaching wedding day and to the married life you plan to make together. It is wise to prepare for both. Most couples make a lasting and satisfying relationship which meets the expectations of both parties. However, unless your marriage is carefully nurtured there is a high risk it may end in divorce, even though it begins lovingly.

It is helpful to know that:

- marriage is important to you, to your children and to society
- there are services available before, during and after marriage that you may wish to use
- there are skills and attitudes that you can learn which will increase the enjoyment and stability of your marriage.

Services that can help

Before marriage: Marriage Education

Most people first learn about marriage by watching marriages of parents, relatives and friends. Television and magazines provide another view of marriage, not always a realistic one.

Because of these factors, you and your partner may have quite different life experiences and may hold very different views on marriage. Real life knowledge of marriage is available in programs run by accredited marriage educators.

- Courses are practical, fun and do not push a particular moral or religious view
- Courses teach attitudes and skills which enrich family life and enhance successful marriage
- If you are remarrying, courses are available to explore the added dimension and complexity brought to a marriage by children from a former marriage.

A list of the agencies which run marriage education programs is provided with this pamphlet. Each agency on that list is approved and funded by the Commonwealth Government.

During marriage: Marriage Counselling / Family Dispute Resolution

‘Well, we certainly won’t need counselling’, you say. But if you did need help, how long would you wait before seeking it? The agencies on the attached list have found that people generally wait too long. Often help is sought when the marriage is beyond saving. Counsellors will not tell you what to do. They help you to find the best way to resolve any difficulty together.

Mediators can help you resolve disputes before they escalate. A family mediator can help both parties come to a fair agreement when a dispute arises. Agreements reached in family dispute resolution are mutual agreements and seem to last longer than those decided by someone outside. It is better if you both go together and sort out minor troubles before they can turn into a major crisis. Even if only one party attends it is very helpful.

Early counselling can be preventive. It can help you steer a course through some of the difficulties which arise in marriage. You can also use counselling and family dispute resolution to improve a very good marriage.

After breakdown of marriage: Marriage Counselling / Family Dispute Resolution

If a marriage does break down, marriage counselling and family dispute resolution can help each party cope with separation and divorce. Counsellors can help in dealing with the stress of marriage breakdown and starting a new relationship. A family mediator can help both partners come to a fair agreement about issues such as custody of children and property which have to be decided after the marriage breaks down. Marriage counselling, education and family dispute resolution services are approved and funded by the Commonwealth and monitored to ensure their work is of a high standard. The work of counsellors, educators and mediators is closely supervised and each must be trained and accredited before commencing work.

Marriage is important

The decision to marry is one which should be taken only after a lot of thought. Careful consideration will save you, your partner and others much pain.

The Family Court is there to preserve and protect the institution of marriage, to give the family the widest possible protection and assistance and to protect the rights of children and promote their welfare. The Family Law Act says:

- Marriage is ‘the union of a man and a woman to the exclusion of all others voluntarily entered into for life’.
- The family is ‘the natural and fundamental group unit of society’.

It is a worthwhile goal for all married people to try to achieve a strong marriage and family life. It is most important that you pass on your loving and stable family life, your pleasure and your wisdom about marriage to our next generation of Australians.

Some things you need to know

Changing your name

For many years it has been a custom for a woman to change her surname to her husband’s surname when she marries. This is a widely practised custom, both in Australia and in other societies. It is, however, a matter of choice. You are not legally required to change your name and many women do continue to use their own surnames after marriage.

Taxation after marriage

When you marry, the amount you pay for taxation can change, sometimes less and sometimes more. If your spouse is not earning any income, the amount you need to pay can change immediately you are married. It is a good idea to contact the Australian Taxation Office, a tax agent or an accountant before you marry to find out whether your tax will change and to answer any questions you may have.

Making a will

If you are married and die without a will, your spouse inherits all or some of your property. If you already have a will before you marry, the marriage usually means that the will no longer applies. It is possible to make a will before you marry which continues to apply after you marry. This sort of will is not affected by marriage. You can also make special provisions for your spouse and any children you may have. A will made during a marriage continues to have effect after separation or divorce unless the person who made the will changes it or remarries. The effect after divorce of a will made during a marriage is governed by state and territory legislation and advice as to the effect of a particular will after divorce should be sought from a solicitor. A solicitor can show you how to make a will or change your current will.

Joint ownership

If you and your future spouse want to put your money into property or some other investment you will need to think ahead. You should first think about whether you want each investment to be owned by both of you, or to be owned by only one of you. Deciding ownership is important when buying a house, land, or even putting your money into a bank account, an insurance policy or into stocks and shares. All involve ownership. If you want your investments to be owned by both of you, there are two main ways to do this. Property owned 'jointly' by both of you automatically goes to the surviving spouse when the other dies. Property owned as 'tenants in common' does not automatically go to the surviving spouse when the other dies. You can put it in your will for someone else. Solicitors can advise you and answer questions on ownership.

Changes to old laws

Because a new view has been taken of the old common law, which says a husband and wife become 'one' when they marry, many old laws have been changed. For example, it is now possible for you to give evidence in most courts where your spouse is involved. Also, marriage no longer stops a woman from keeping ownership of her own property when she marries.

Health and welfare benefits

If you receive health or welfare benefits, you will need to contact such agencies as Health Insurance Funds, Social Security or other Government Departments to tell them you have married. When you marry, the money or benefits you receive can change. These offices can tell you how your benefits will change. You may lose benefits and even be penalised if you fail to tell them you have married within a reasonable time after the wedding.

Legal obligations

When you marry, our laws expect each of you to:

- financially support any children from your marriage
- look after the health and welfare of your children
- send your children to school between the ages that apply in your state
- financially support your spouse as best you can if he or she cannot do so for any reason.

5 General requirements for marriage ceremonies

A marriage celebrant must respect the importance of the marriage ceremony to the parties and the other persons organising the ceremony. To that end, the marriage celebrant must do the following:

- (a) give the parties information and guidance to enable them to choose or compose a marriage ceremony that will meet their needs and expectations;
- (b) respect the privacy and confidentiality of the parties;
- (c) maintain appropriate facilities to interview parties and provide office facilities, including facilities for the secure storage of records;
- (d) within a reasonable time before the marriage ceremony:
 - (i) confirm all details with the parties; and
 - (ii) ensure the return of all personal documents belonging to the parties (unless it is necessary to keep the documents for the ceremony); and
 - (iii) sign any necessary declarations;
- (e) if requested by the parties, conduct a marriage ceremony rehearsal;
- (f) ensure that his or her personal presentation is of an appropriate standard for the marriage ceremony, and respect the expectations of the parties in relation to the ceremony;
- (g) make efforts to ensure that the marriage ceremony is audible to all those present (using audio equipment, if required);
- (h) ensure accuracy in the preparation of documents, and in the conduct of the marriage ceremony;
- (i) arrive at the venue for the marriage ceremony no later than the time agreed with the parties;
- (j) if the marriage celebrant has agreed to perform more than one marriage ceremony on the same day:
 - (i) ensure that the parties to each marriage receive a level of service that meets their separate and special requirements; and

- (ii) be available at the venue for each marriage ceremony at least 20 minutes before the agreed commencement of each ceremony (unless, in the case of consecutive ceremonies, the ceremonies are to be held at the same venue);
 - (k) ensure that all relevant documents are completed and sent to the appropriate registering authority within 14 days after the marriage ceremony, as required by section 50 of the Marriage Act 1961;
 - (l) in relation to the provision of marriage services, accept evaluative comment from the parties, and use any comments to improve performance;
 - (m) give the parties information about how to notify the Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department of any concerns or complaints they may have regarding the marriage services provided by the marriage celebrant.

6 Knowledge and understanding of family relationships services

A marriage celebrant must:

- (a) maintain an up-to-date knowledge about appropriate family relationships services in the community; and
- (b) inform parties about the range of information and services available to them to enhance, and sustain them throughout, their relationship.

Schedule 1B Circumstances for authorising marriage despite late notice

(regulation 39)

1 Employment-related or other travel commitments

- (1) A circumstance is that the marriage should be solemnized despite the required notice not having been received in time because a party to the intended marriage or someone involved with the proposed wedding:
- (a) has employment commitments that necessitate the person's absence from the location of the proposed wedding for a considerable period of time; or
 - (b) has other travel commitments.

Examples

1 A party to the intended marriage has accepted an offer of employment for imminent transfer or posting overseas or to a part of Australia distant from the location of the proposed wedding for at least 3 months, and wishes to be married with the party's family and friends present before the departure.

2 A party to the intended marriage realises that a close relative or friend of the party is in Australia but the relative or friend has a non-redeemable ticket for departure from Australia within less than a month, and the party wishes the relative or friend to be present at the wedding.

- (2) In determining whether the circumstance in subclause (1) is met, the prescribed authority may take into account the following:
- (a) documents relating to the employment commitments such as a letter of offer and a letter of acceptance;
 - (b) documents relating to the travel such as a dated receipt or a ticket;
 - (c) any explanation provided for not giving the notice sooner;
 - (d) any explanation provided for not postponing the proposed wedding;

- (e) whether hardship would be caused to a party to the intended marriage if the marriage is not solemnized as proposed;
 - (f) any other matter that the prescribed authority considers relevant.

2 Wedding or celebration arrangements

- (1) A circumstance is that the marriage should be solemnized despite the required notice not having been received in time because of the binding nature of the wedding arrangements or celebration arrangements made in connection with the intended marriage, or because of any religious consideration.

Example

Arrangements and non-refundable payments of a considerable sum have been made for the proposed wedding, or for any celebration associated with the intended marriage, and the date for the wedding or celebration cannot be changed.

- (2) In determining whether the circumstance in subclause (1) is met, the prescribed authority may take into account the following:
 - (a) documents showing the extent of preparations for the proposed wedding, such as receipts showing dates and amounts of payments connected with the wedding;
 - (b) in the case of a religious consideration — the nature of the consideration;
 - (c) any explanation provided for not giving the notice sooner;
 - (d) any explanation provided for not postponing the proposed wedding;
 - (e) whether hardship would be caused to a party to the intended marriage if the marriage is not solemnized as proposed;
 - (f) any other matter that the prescribed authority considers relevant.

3 Medical reasons

- (1) A circumstance is that the marriage should be solemnized despite the required notice not having been received in time because a party to the intended marriage, or someone involved with the proposed wedding, is suffering from a medical condition of a serious nature.

Example

A party to the intended marriage, or a parent or close relative of the party, has a serious illness that will prevent the person from attending the wedding unless it is held in less than a month.

- (2) In determining whether the circumstance in subclause (1) is met, the prescribed authority may take into account the following:
- (a) a letter from a medical practitioner or other health professional confirming the relevant health circumstances;
 - (b) any explanation provided for not giving the notice sooner;
 - (c) any other matter that the prescribed authority considers relevant.

4 Legal proceedings

- (1) A circumstance is that the marriage should be solemnized despite the required notice not having been received in time because a party to the intended marriage is involved in a legal proceeding.

Example

A party to the intended marriage is subject to a pending court proceeding, and is at risk of imprisonment.

- (2) In determining whether the circumstance in subclause (1) is met, the prescribed authority may take into account the following:
- (a) a sealed copy of any applicable court order;
 - (b) a letter from the party's solicitor stating the dates and nature of a pending court proceeding;
 - (c) any explanation provided for not giving the notice sooner;
 - (d) any explanation provided for not postponing the proposed wedding;

- (e) whether hardship would be caused to a party to the intended marriage if the marriage is not solemnized as proposed;
 - (f) any other matter that the prescribed authority considers relevant.

5 Error in giving notice

- (1) A circumstance is that the marriage should be solemnized despite the required notice not having been received in time because:
 - (a) it was due only to error on the part of an authorized celebrant (or a person whom the parties to the intended marriage believed to be an authorized celebrant) that the required notice was not given or that the notice given was invalid, stale or lost; and
 - (b) arrangements have been made for the proposed wedding to take place within the one month period.

Examples

1 The parties have given significant notice to the authorized celebrant orally, and arrangements for the proposed wedding have been made, but written notice was not given in the required time because the authorized celebrant failed to explain the notice requirements properly.

2 The parties have given written notice in the required time, and arrangements for the proposed wedding have been made, but the notice is invalid because the person to whom the notice was given was not yet registered as a marriage celebrant.

3 The parties have given written notice in the required time, and arrangements for celebrations have been made to follow the marriage ceremony, but the notice was lost by the authorized celebrant.

- (2) In determining whether the circumstance in subclause (1) is met, the prescribed authority may take into account the following:
 - (a) documents confirming why the notice was not given, such as a letter confirming an earlier interview with the parties to the intended marriage;
 - (b) a letter from the person to whom the notice was given explaining why the notice was invalid, stale or lost;
 - (c) documents showing the arrangements made in connection with the proposed wedding;

- (d) any other matter that the prescribed authority considers relevant.

Note 1

The Marriage Regulations 1963 (in force under the Marriage Act 1961) as shown in this compilation comprise Statutory Rules 1963 No. 31 amended as indicated in the Tables below.

Under the Legislative Instruments Act 2003, which came into force on 1 January 2005, it is a requirement for all non-exempt legislative instruments to be registered on the Federal Register of Legislative Instruments. From 1 January 2005 the Statutory Rules series ceased to exist and was replaced with Select Legislative Instruments (SLI series). Numbering conventions remain the same, ie Year and Number.
